STRATEGIC

Leadership. It's a key element to the success of any organization.

But without a concrete and realistic plan to develop leadership skills, potential leaders may never realize their... potential.

It's all about strategy.

The experts at FMI Center for Strategic Leadership will give you the tools to create a leadership plan that is tailored to your industry and your organization.

Be strategic about your future.

Focus On Others

Leaders today are challenged to achieve more with less, enhance the performance and effectiveness of their staff, and grow the bottom line. Those who are able to do this consistently over time recognize that leadership is not about tactics, fads or spreadsheets. It is about a leader's ability to win the hearts, minds, and commitment of his or her people.

FMI's Focus on Others Leadership Session will expose leaders to the best kept secret in leadership — a unique frame-work for evaluating and enhancing leadership effectiveness and creating sustained organizational success, from the inside out.

End Result

By attending the leadership sessions, you will develop:

- A culture of feedback and candor, where people and processes are consistently enhanced
- Employees who willingly make personal sacrifices to ensure the long-term success of your organization
- Leaders who engage the hearts of employees, inspiring them to achieve more than they thought possible and driving productivity throughout your organization
- The ability to attract and retain the best employees, characterized by trust, respect and loyalty

Who should attend?

Your entire leadership team! This is an event you do not want to miss. We received an overwhelmingly positive response after the first FOUR sessions. HR and Training Directors will also benefit from attending this workshop!

"There is no better investment you can make if you are serious about learning or improving your leadership skills!"

Leveraging strengths of individual team members will allow you to have a direct impact on both your leadership skills and the success of your organization.
